

Reverse Grid Racing

For immediate release: March 19 2017

Chris Ward picked up from where he left off yesterday to win Sunday's instalment of the Gerry Marshall Trophy. The reverse-grid race worked brilliantly, with the fastest cars from Saturday's race starting from the back of the field before working their way to the front. There was no stopping the blisteringly quick Rover SD1 of Ward, the veteran charger tearing up the order to take the lead three-quarters of the way into the 20min encounter. The star of the race for many, however, was Jim Morris in his Volkswagen Golf GTi who valiantly led for much of the distance, only to be bundled down to fourth with only a few minutes left to run.

An elated Ward said: 'What a fantastic race. I loved it. What a great format, too. The driving standards out there were fantastic which made all the difference.'
